

Torex™ DRS-POS enterprise edition provides a total retail management system for a wide range of retailers and leisure, food & beverage outlets across the globe.

The challenge

What are your point-of-service (POS) systems doing for your enterprise? For most retailers and leisure, food & beverage outlets, these systems allow for sales transactions to be completed in person or online. But that's where their functionality ends.

By using traditional POS systems, you're missing the opportunity to gather important strategic information for running your business better. In addition, you're failing to address your customers' key concerns about shopping:

- Getting through checkout quickly
- Out-of-stock products
- Finding staff to answer questions or assist in purchases
- Employee knowledge about products and/or other stores
- Visible pricing on products or shelves

Define customer experience with Torex DRS-POS enterprise edition

Torex DRS-POS is a fully integrated retail management solution that can handle point-of-service as well as:

- Merchandising and planning
- Sales and profit analysis
- Stock control
- Retail accounting
- Financial reporting

In other words, Torex has everything you need to run your entire retail or leisure, food & beverage enterprise. And our solutions reflect 20+ years of experience serving some of the biggest enterprises in the world.

The solution

A truly complete solution

Torex DRS-POS offers end-to-end retail functionality that addresses all aspects of retail store and leisure, food & beverage outlet management.

A central application

Torex DRS-POS runs across three levels in a retail or leisure, food & beverage organisation:

- Point-of-service Salespeople and cashiers have the information they need – including customer profiles and product information – to make fast and accurate sales in a number of different environments.
- Back office Users get access to POS information, enabling greater precision in sales monitoring and other aspects of inventory management.
- Head office With stores' sales information available in real time for analysis, reporting, measurement and archiving, management can make educated, strategic decisions on business activities.

One version of the truth

All Torex DRS-POS data is stored on a central server, so everyone across the enterprise sees the same sales, stock and performance figures, no matter where they're located or when they log in.

International capabilities

Torex DRS-POS is available for use in multiple languages and can handle multiple currencies as well as multiple tax environments.

Modern user interface

Each screen in the system is built on the same structure, layout and design principles, and features modern touch-screen technology. Our emphasis on simplicity reduces training costs, as everyone in your enterprise can get up and running in little or no time.

Centralised architecture

Torex DRS-POS has a centralised architecture, reducing the hardware footprint in the store, simplifying the deployment of new POS devices and ensuring valuable business data is secured at the head office. All of which leads to a lower cost of implementation and support.

Web support

Torex DRS-POS provides added value to your organisation by letting you log calls directly on the Internet, view support status and understand how the product is benefiting other customers.

Multi-environment capabilities

Torex DRS-POS supports mixed environments across the retail and leisure, food & beverage realms, so you can manage a varied mix of stores without investing in multiple systems.

Torex DRS-POS also allows for:

- Electronic gift cards
- Customer loyalty programs
- Cashless payments
- Flexible promotions
- Business alerts
- Messaging and email

Achieve results now

Retailers and leisure, food & beverage outlets using Torex DRS-POS enterprise edition have reported results like these:

- Increases in sales
- Faster transactions
- Reductions in inventory
- Better purchasing
